PERFORMANCE ATTRIBUTION OF TARGET FUND

The portfolio returned -0.64% during May 2022 in absolute GBP Hedged terms.

Industrials and health care were the bottom contributing sectors, while consumer discretionary was the top contributing sector. At the issuer level, our top two absolute contributors were Nomad Foods and Charles Schwab, while our top two absolute detractors were ICU Medical and Performance Food Group. The share price of Nomad Foods, a UK-based frozen foods company best known for the Birds Eye brand, rose in May after management delivered first quarter EPS results ahead of expectations and reiterated full year adjusted EPS guidance at EU1.71 to 1.75. ICU Medical shares declined in May after the company reported 1Q 2022 results that were negatively impacted by the performance of recently acquired company Smiths Medical. The acquisition of Smiths Medical has brought with it regulatory, customer fulfillment, reliability, supply chain, inventory, and manufacturing issues which have required increased spending and have hindered short-term gross margin.

OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY OF TARGET FUND

PURCHASES

Our purchase criteria consists of: 1) potential for stable cash flows that are likely to demonstrate resiliency across the business cycle, 2) value creation primarily through the sensible use of free cash flow and 3) moderate valuation that may allow for attractive risk-adjusted returns over time. Consistent with our very long term investment horizon and residual low turnover, we did not purchase shares in any new businesses during the month.

SALES

We sell stocks if 1) cash flows are less stable than we predicted, 2) stock valuation rises such that risk-adjusted returns no longer fall within our target range, or 3) some combination of lower stability and higher valuation. We had one notable elimination during the month.

Viscofan is a consumer staples company based in Spain that manufactures and distributes artificial casings for meat products. At acquisition, the company fit our criteria given its high market share in the sausage casing business and the strong demand for its products. The company has a low-cost position that we believe is attractive; however, higher competitive intensity has made us less constructive. We decided to eliminate the position from the portfolio.

At the end of the period, our largest exposures were industrials and financials and we were least exposed to consumer discretionary and real estate. We had no exposure to communication services, energy, and materials, among others. From a regional perspective, our largest exposures were North America and Developed Europe & Middle East ex UK and we were least exposed to Japan. We had no exposure to Emerging Markets.
